

Cardinal Newman

The story of the miracle opening the way for Cardinal Newman's beatification

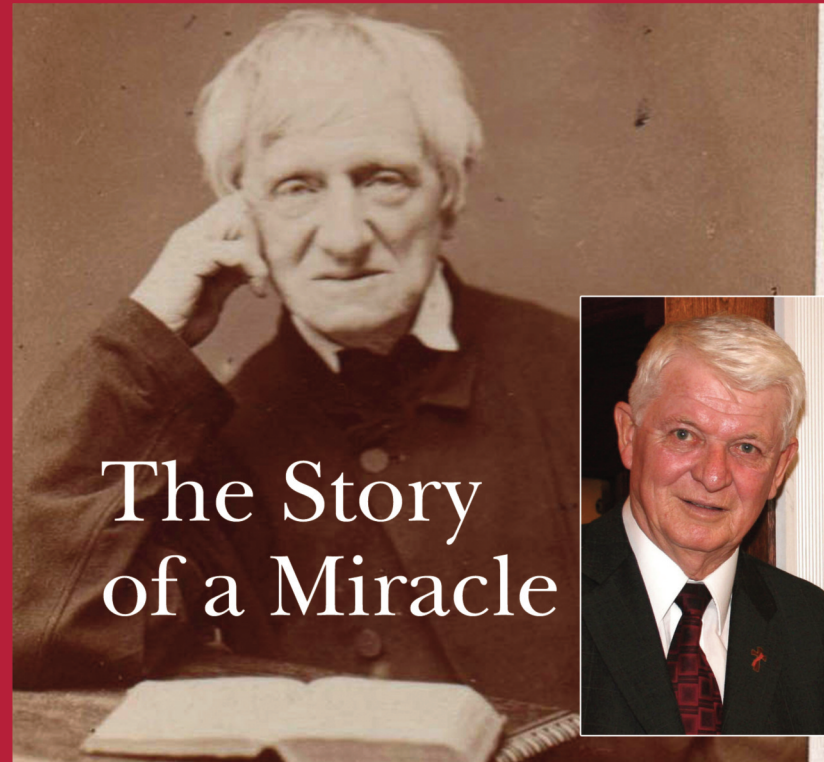

This booklet contains the story of Jack Sullivan, a Boston lawyer and magistrate, who, on turning sixty, developed a seriously debilitating illness, from which, after praying to John Henry Newman he was miraculously cured. This extraordinary story, much of it in Jack's own words, is detailed and illuminating. It introduces the reader to Newman, probably the best known churchman in Victorian England, and to the lengthy process of intense scrutiny which the Catholic Church applies to such claims. The approval of this miracle by the Vatican Congregation for the Causes of Saints, on 2 June 2009, has cleared the way for the beatification of John Henry Newman.

Peter Jennings is a Catholic journalist, writer and broadcaster who has worked on the Newman Cause since 1975. His book Benedict XVI and Cardinal Newman was published in 2005.
