

Season of Lent

General Texts

The annual observance of Lent is the special season for the ascent to the holy mountain of Easter.

Through its twofold themes of repentance and baptism, the season of Lent disposes both the catechumens and the faithful to celebrate the paschal mystery. Catechumens are led to the sacraments of initiation by means of the rite of election, the scrutinies, and catechesis. The faithful, listening more intently to the word of God and devoting themselves to prayer, are prepared through a spirit of repentance to renew their baptismal promises.

Ceremonial of Bishops 249

Lent runs from Ash Wednesday until the Mass of the Lord's Supper exclusive.

- The Alleluia is not used from the beginning of Lent until the Easter Vigil.

On Ash Wednesday, which is the beginning of Lent and is observed everywhere as a fast day, ashes are distributed.

The Sundays of this season are called the First, Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Sundays of Lent. The Sixth Sunday, which marks the beginning of Holy Week, is called Passion Sunday (Palm Sunday).

Holy Week has as its purpose the remembrance of Christ's passion, beginning with his Messianic entrance into Jerusalem.

- At the Chrism Mass on Holy Thursday morning the bishop, concelebrating Mass with his presbyterate, blesses the oils and consecrates the chrism.

General Norms for the Liturgical Year and Calendar 27–31

Baptism

The whole initiation must bear a markedly paschal character, since the initiation of Christians is the first sacramental sharing in Christ's dying and, rising and since, in addition, the period of purification and enlightenment ordinarily coincides with Lent and the period of postbaptismal catechesis or mystagogy with the Easter season. All the resources of Lent should be brought to bear as a more intense preparation of the elect and the Easter Vigil should be regarded as the proper time for the sacraments of initiation. Because of pastoral needs, however, the sacraments of initiation may be celebrated at other times.

During Lent, the period of purification and enlightenment, the faithful should take care to participate in the rites of the scrutinies and presentations and give the elect the example of their own renewal in the spirit of penance, faith, and charity. At the Easter Vigil, they should attach great importance to renewing their own baptismal promises.

The rite of election or enrolment of names should as a rule be celebrated on the First Sunday of Lent.

The period of purification and enlightenment, which the rite of election begins, customarily coincides with Lent. In the liturgy and liturgical catechesis of Lent the reminder of baptism already received or the preparation for its reception, as well as the theme of repentance, renew the entire community along with those being prepared to celebrate the paschal mystery, in which each of the elect will share through the sacraments of initiation.¹ For both the elect and the local community, therefore, the Lenten season is a time for spiritual recollection in preparation for the celebration of the paschal mystery.

This is a period of more intense spiritual preparation, consisting more in interior reflection than in catechetical instruction, and is intended to purify the minds and hearts of the elect as they search their own consciences and do penance. This period is intended as well to enlighten the minds and hearts of the elect with a deeper knowledge of Christ the Saviour. The celebration of certain rites, particularly the scrutinies (see nos. 128–133) and the presentations (see nos. 134–136), brings about this process of purification and enlightenment and extends it over the course of the entire Lenten season.

Because they are asking for the three sacraments of initiation, the elect must have the intention of achieving an intimate knowledge of Christ and his Church, and they are expected particularly to progress in genuine self-knowledge through serious examination of their lives and true repentance.

In order to inspire in the elect a desire for purification and redemption by Christ, three scrutinies are celebrated. By this means, first of all, the elect are instructed gradually about the mystery of sin, from which the whole world and every person longs to be delivered and thus saved from its present and future consequences. Second, their spirit is filled with Christ the Redeemer, who is the living water (gospel of the Samaritan woman in the first scrutiny), the light of the world (gospel of the man born blind in the second scrutiny), the resurrection and the life (gospel of Lazarus in the third scrutiny). From the first to the final scrutiny the elect should progress in their perception of sin and their desire for salvation.

By ancient usage, the presentations, since they take place after the scrutinies, are part of the same period of purification and enlightenment. They are celebrated during the week. The presentation of the Creed to the catechumens takes place during the week after the first scrutiny; the presentation of the Lord's Prayer during the week after the third scrutiny. For pastoral reasons, however, to enrich the liturgy in the period of the catechumenate, each presentation may be transferred and celebrated during the period of the catechumenate as a kind of 'rite of passage'.

Penance

The season of Lent is most appropriate for celebrating the sacrament of penance. Already on Ash Wednesday the people of God has heard the solemn invitation 'Turn away from sin and believe the good news.' It is therefore fitting to have several penitential celebrations during Lent, so that all the faithful may have an opportunity to be reconciled with God and their neighbour and so be able to celebrate the paschal mystery in the Easter triduum with renewed hearts.

Rite of Penance 13

Lent precedes and prepares for Easter. It is a time to hear the Word of God, to convert, to prepare for and remember Baptism, to be reconciled with God and one's neighbour, and of more frequent recourse to the 'arms of Christian penance': prayer, fasting and good works (cf. Mt 6, 1-6. 16-18).

Popular piety does not easily perceive the mystical aspect of Lent and does not emphasize any of its great themes or values, such a relationship between "the sacrament of forty days" and "the sacraments of Christian initiation", nor the mystery of the "exodus" which is always present in the lenten journey. Popular piety concentrates on the mysteries of Christ's humanity, and during Lent the faithful pay close attention to the Passion and Death of Our Lord.

In the Roman Rite, the beginning of the forty days of penance is marked with the austere symbol of ashes which are used in the Liturgy of Ash Wednesday. The use of ashes is a survival from an ancient rite according to which converted sinners submitted themselves to canonical penance. The act of putting on ashes symbolizes fragility and mortality, and the need to be redeemed by the mercy of God. Far from being a merely external act, the Church has retained the use of ashes to symbolize that attitude of internal penance to which all the baptized are called during Lent. The faithful who come to receive ashes should be assisted in perceiving the implicit internal significance of this act, which disposes them towards conversion and renewed Easter commitment.

Notwithstanding the secularisation of contemporary society, the Christian faithful, during Lent, are clearly conscious of the need to turn the mind towards those realities which really count, which require Gospel commitment and integrity of life which, through self denial of those things which are superfluous, are translated into good works and solidarity with the poor and needy.

Those of the faithful who infrequently attend the sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist should be aware of the long ecclesial tradition associating the precept of confessing grave sins and receive Holy Communion at least once during the lenten season, or preferably during Eastertide.

Directory on Popular Piety 124 -125

It is fitting that the Lenten season should be concluded, both for the individual Christian as well as for the whole Christian community, with a penitential celebration, so that they may be helped to prepare to celebrate more fully the paschal mystery.

These celebrations, however, should take place before the Easter Triduum and should not immediately precede the evening Mass of the Lord's Supper.

Psachale Solemnitatis 37

Scripture

It is on this harmony of the two Testaments that the Paschal catechesis of the Lord is built, and then, that of the Apostles and the Fathers of the Church. This catechesis unveils what lay hidden under the letter of the Old Testament: the mystery of Christ. It is called "typological" because it reveals the newness of Christ on the basis of the "figures" (types) which announce him in the deeds, words, and symbols of the first covenant. By this re-reading in the Spirit of Truth, starting from Christ, the figures are unveiled. Thus the flood and Noah's ark prefigured salvation by Baptism, as did the cloud and the crossing of the Red Sea. Water from the rock was the figure of the spiritual gifts of Christ, and manna in the desert prefigured the Eucharist, "the true bread from heaven."

For this reason the Church, especially during Advent and Lent and above all at the Easter Vigil, re-reads and re-lives the great events of salvation history in the "today" of her liturgy. But this also demands that catechesis help the faithful to open themselves to this spiritual understanding of the economy of salvation as the Church's liturgy reveals it and enables us to live it.

Sunday Readings

Weekday Readings

The readings from the gospels and the Old Testament were selected because they are related to each other. They treat various themes of the Lenten catechesis that are suited to the spiritual significance of this season. Beginning with Monday of the fourth week of Lent, there is a semi continuous reading of the Gospel of John, made up of texts that correspond more closely to the themes proper to Lent.

Because the readings about the Samaritan woman, the man born blind, and the raising of Lazarus are now assigned to Sundays, but only for Year A (in Year Band Year C they are optional), provision has been made for their use on weekdays. Thus at the beginning of the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Weeks of Lent optional Masses with these texts for the gospel have been inserted and may be used in place of the readings of the day on any weekday of the respective week.

In the first half of Holy Week the readings are about the mystery of Christ's passion. For the chrism Mass the readings bring out both Christ's messianic mission and its continuation in the Church by means of the sacraments.

Season of Lent Pastoral Notes

Lent is the 'joyful season' in which we "prepare to celebrate the paschal mystery with mind and heart renewed." In Lent, the community of faith is blessed with a spirit of loving reverence for God and of willing service to neighbour. The season of Lent begins on Ash Wednesday and concludes before the Evening Mass of the Lord's Supper on Holy Thursday.

Baptismal and Penitential Themes

The liturgy of Lent is marked by two closely related themes, the baptismal and the penitential. It is a time of purification and enlightenment for the Elect, those preparing to receive the Sacraments of Initiation at the Easter Vigil. Their preparation is supported by the ministry of the local Church, the whole community of the faithful – in prayer, catechesis and personal witness. This support is particularly focused in the celebration of the Scrutinies on the 3rd, 4th and 5th Sundays of Lent. At the same time the community of the faithful recall their own baptism and prepare for its renewal. Both the elect and the local community join together in a spirit of repentance and conversion of heart, making Lent a time of spiritual recollection for the whole Church as it prepares for the celebration of Easter.

Therefore Lent is a time for more intense prayer and reflection and for particular attention to the word of God. This takes place above all in the Sunday Eucharist.

Lenten penance is not "only inward and individual, but also outward and social." Prayer, fasting, almsgiving, and other works of charity are the traditional ways of deepening conversion to Christ.

The First Sunday of Lent is the usual day for the celebration of the Rite of Election. During this rite, the Bishop of the Diocese asks the catechists and sponsors of those preparing for sacramental initiation whether the catechumens (and those others seeking to complete sacramental initiation, – for example those baptised in other Christian communities. On receiving the assurance that they are the Bishop formally elects them and gives permission for them to proceed with their final preparation for the sacraments of initiation. The Church's acceptance of the candidates is founded on their election by God, in whose name the Church acts. As a pledge of fidelity, the Elect inscribe their names in the book containing the list of those who have been chosen for initiation.

- Sponsors and godparents, as well as catechists, priests, and deacons have particular responsibilities toward the elect. They show the elect how to practice the gospel in personal and social life, sustain them in moments of hesitancy or anxiety, guide them, and bear witness on their behalf before the whole community.
- The presence of the Elect in the midst of the community provides a powerful reminder of the baptismal character of the season, and of the encouragement to all members of the Church to prepare for the renewal of their baptismal promises at the Masses of the Easter Vigil and Easter Day. The celebration of the scrutinies during the parish Sunday Eucharist not only heals and strengthens the elect, but helps all the faithful to deepen their own conversion. The scrutinies reinforce the significance of the gracious dismissal of catechumens from the Eucharistic assembly throughout the year.
- Because Lent is a time of preparation for the Easter sacraments, parents and godparents of infants to be baptised are also to receive appropriate formation so that the infants can be baptised on Easter Sunday, either at the Vigil or at one of the Masses during the day, or on one of the Sundays of Easter.
- As the season of Lent leads the elect to the sacraments of initiation, so it leads the faithful to celebrate the sacrament of penance, which restores them from sin to baptismal innocence and reconciles them to God and the Church. Opportunities for communal (Form 2) and individual (Form 1) forms of reconciliation should be provided, especially toward the end of Lent.
- Non-Sacramental Penitential rites can be worthily used throughout the Season to help the community prepare for the celebration of the Sacrament of Penance.
- A homily is recommended at weekday Masses during Lent; intercession for the elect and for sinners is especially appropriate in this season; and the Eucharistic Prayers for Masses of Reconciliation may be especially suitable. It is permitted to use these Eucharistic Prayers with other prefaces, such as those of the season of Lent, which highlight the themes of conversion and repentance.

Season of Lent

Sundays of Lent

The gospel readings are arranged as follows:

The first and second Sundays retain the accounts of the Lord's temptations and transfiguration, with readings, however, from all three Synoptics.

On the next three Sundays, the gospels about the Samaritan woman, the man born blind, and the raising of Lazarus have been restored in Year A. Because these gospels are of major importance in regard to Christian initiation, they may also be read in Year B and Year C, especially in places where there are catechumens.

Other texts, however, are provided for Year B and Year C: for Year B, a text from John about Christ's coming glorification through his cross and resurrection and for Year C, a text from Luke about conversion.

On Passion Sunday (Palm Sunday) the texts for the procession are selections from the Synoptic Gospels concerning the Lord's triumphal entrance into Jerusalem. For the Mass the reading is the account of the Lord's passion.

The Old Testament readings are about the history of salvation, which is one of the themes proper to the catechesis of Lent. The series of texts for each Year presents the main elements of salvation history from its beginning until the promise of the New Covenant.

The readings from the letters of the apostles have been selected to fit the gospel and the Old Testament readings and, to the extent possible, to provide a connection between them.

- Music should reflect the more sober mood of Lent and thus provide a contrast with the festive music of the Easter season which follows. The Gloria is not used in the Introductory Rites at Mass and the Alleluia is replaced by other gospel acclamations.
- The use of violet or purple vestments and the simplicity of decoration in the church reflect the penitential nature of this season.
- Any decoration of the Church or its altar during the season of Lent should be modest.
- The Liturgy of the Hours, and devotions such as the Stations of the Cross can play a part in stirring up a spirit of repentance during the season of Lent.

The Role of the Bishop

The celebration of the Easter mystery is the high point of the Church's year and is accomplished with the utmost solemnity. The intimately related seasons of Lent and Easter are therefore an eminently suitable time for the bishop as chief shepherd of the diocese to gather the flock of God's people for special liturgical celebrations. Thus it becomes clear that initiation, reconciliation, and healing are essentially ecclesial acts.

- As the focal point of the church's concern for the catechumens, admission to election belongs to the bishop. The presiding celebrant for the rite is the bishop himself or one who acts as his delegate.
- Following the ancient custom of the Church of Rome, the bishop is strongly encouraged to gather the faithful on Sundays or on other days during Lent, in the principal parish churches or places of pilgrimage in the diocese, to celebrate the liturgy with them.
- Toward the end of Lent, the bishop gathers the clergy and the people of the diocese to bless the oils for the Church's ministry to catechumens and the sick and to consecrate the chrism used in the sacraments of Easter initiation and holy orders. Although priests may bless oil before anointing catechumens in the initiation of adults and, in case of necessity, before anointing the sick, use of the oil blessed by the bishop expresses more strongly the ministry of the whole local Church. The bishop may take this opportunity to instruct the priests about the reverent use and safe custody of the holy oils.

The Days of Lent

The season of Lent leads to the Easter Triduum, which begins with the Evening Mass of the Lord's Supper on Holy Thursday and ends with Evening Prayer on Easter Sunday. The final days of Lent together with the Easter Triduum make up Holy Week. Beginning on Passion Sunday (Palm Sunday) with Jesus' messianic entry into Jerusalem, Holy Week recalls the passion and resurrection of Christ.

- The Sundays of Lent, Ash Wednesday, and the weekdays of Holy Week take precedence over all feasts and solemnities; only feasts and solemnities take precedence over the weekdays of Lent.

Ash Wednesday, a day of fast and abstinence, sets the tone for Lent through the call to turn away from sin and to be faithful to the gospel.

The Sundays of Lent each have a special character drawn from the gospel of the day. On the first Sunday, the Church remembers how the Lord is led into the wilderness for forty days where he is tempted, and on the second, how Christ is transfigured on the mountain. On the next three Sundays, three great Johannine passages of major importance for Christian initiation are read: the Samaritan woman at the well, the man born blind, and the raising of Lazarus. While alternatives are given for years B and C, these gospels from year A may always be used with the other readings from year A, especially where the elect are preparing for Easter. Finally, on the last Sunday of Lent, the account of the Lord's passion is proclaimed from one of the synoptic gospels.

- The first readings for the Sundays of Lent present the main elements of the history of salvation from its beginning until the promise of the new covenant. The readings from the letters of the apostles have been selected to complement the gospel and the first readings and, as far as possible, to make a connection between them.
- The opening prayers and prefaces for the Sundays of Lent serve to reinforce the power of the readings for these Sundays. The Scrutinies, which are celebrated on the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Sundays of Lent, draw from and build upon the gospel reading in particular for each of these Sundays.
