Catholic Truth Society (CTS)

The CTS publishes books and resources to support Catholics to gain a deeper understanding of their faith and to share it with others. It has collated a books list for schools about St Thérèse and her Little Way.

What is the Little Way Week?

Little Way Week is an initiative of the Department for Evangelisation and Catechesis (Catholic Bishops' Conference of England and Wales), in partnership with the Catholic Education Service. The Week is inspired by the example and spiritual teaching of St Thérèse of Lisieux. The initiative aims to encourage everyone to pray and to reach out to others with the love of Jesus Christ through seven days of service.

LITTLE WAY WEEK

Introduction

Pope Benedict XVI announced that a Year of Faith would begin on 11 October 2012 and end on 24 November 2013, the Feast of Christ the King. One of the emphases of the Year is to offer initiatives that support the work of evangelisation – particularly through charitable works. In support of the Year, Little Way Week has as its focus the teaching of St Thérèse of Lisieux which affirms that we grow in holiness and witness to God's love doing little things for love of Him and others every day. This leaflet offers an overview of the initiative and the resources for secondary schools.

Secondary Activity Pack

In this pack you'll find two comprehensive lesson plans with an accompanying mind map to assist learning.

Wednesday Word

'Begin the Day with God's Word' is a classroom Scripture resource produced by The Wednesday Word Trust. This resource is available for download in a PDF and PowerPoint format.

The Wednesday Word Trust also produces a colour, double-sided A4 leaflet titled 'Wednesday Word', which creates a new, lively, weekly contact between the Church and school families. Although it was originally designed for use in primary schools, the resource has been used by some secondary schools to good effect in Year 7. To find out more, and to see a sample, please visit: www.wednesdayword.org
